WRIT TO HALT RAY INVENTOR TOO LATE, HE GOES TO PARIS

Court Order Arrives Just As Aero Is Leaving

MAY MEAN SUIT

Others Make Claim To Similar Discoveries, Says Official

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—As the aeroplane which was taking Mr. Grindell Matthews, the inventor of the so-called 'death ray,' to France was departing, the solicitor and one of the parties to an action in the High Court dashed up to the Croydon Aerodrome in a motorcar just too late to inform Mr. Matthews of an interim injunction, which Mr. Justice Greer had granted one hour previously, preventing Mr. Matthews from selling or contracting to sell his invention without the consent of three parties, who claim that they are entitled to a 52 percent ownership in the invention.

Failing an undertaking from the French company, which is negotiating to purchase the invention, to await the result of the proceedings, action will be taken in the French Court to protect the invention till a new or revised offer has been made by the British Government to Mr. Matthews.

An official at the Air Ministry stated that numerous inventors are making claims to similar rays.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—The Air Ministry in a statement says that it had offered Mr. Grindell Matthews a number of opportunities since last February to give a demonstration of his apparatus, but he did not make arrangements until interviewed by Air Vice-Marshal Sir Geoffrey Salmond Director-General of Supply and Research at the Air Ministry, on Saturday last. The demonstration, actually proposed by the inventor and shown yesterday, consisted of lighting and electric lamp and stopping a small motor-cycle engine by a ray from a distance of fifteen yards. The inventor provided and arranged all the apparatus. The representatives of the Department were shown nothing to bear out the press statements with regard to the possibilities of the invention and it was impossible to form any definite opinion with regard to the value of the device. Mr. Matthews was, accordingly, offered an immediate opportunity to demonstrate stopping a small petrol motor provided by the Government. He was not asked to disclose any information regarding the rays and he was to be paid £1,000 immediately if the test were successful, the only condition being that he should allow the Government a fortnight in which to consider a basis for further financial negotiations for the purchase and development of the invention. The statement says in conclusion that Mr. Matthews refused the offer.

S'hai Delegates In Peking To Ask Court Rendition

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 25.—A delegation representing Shanghai public bodies has arrived in Peking to put before the Government their views in favor of early rendition of the Shanghai Mixed Court. It is expected that the members of the delegation will be entertained by the Vice-Minister of Justice at a reception which representatives of the Waichiaopu and other Ministries will be invited to attend in order to hear a statement from the delegates.

Peking Dust

A Daily Chronicle Of The Capital's Gossip And News

(From Our Staff Correspondent)

Peking, May 21.—The approaching visit of the Panchan Lama, second in power in the Lama Church which holds sway in Tibet, Mongolia and stretches down into China, to Peking has caused a flurry of excitement among Chinese radicals in the capital with a corresponding deluge of news and rumors on Tibet filling the Chinese press.

For some unknown reason—for, according to information from an authoritative Chinese source the Waichiaopu has no official confirmation or reports on the incidents alleged—the Chinese press is carrying on what appears to be a systematic continuation of charges that Great Britain has troops in, or near, Tibet, and is planning on wresting control of Tibetan affairs from the Chinese.

The Dalai Lama, supreme religious and political ruler of Tibet, is understood to be at "outs" with the Panchan Lama, second in power, and the Panchan Lama's visit to Peking is supposed to be in the nature of an attempt to join forces with China in fighting against the alleged encroachments of the British in the despolate, but immensely rich country through which one of Asia's greatest mountain ranges serves as a backbone.

China has appointed two commissioners to welcome the Panchan Lama, who is now in Kansu province, en route to Lanchowfu, the capital, and Prince Kalachin, the Director-General of the Bureau of Mongolian and Tibetan Affairs, has petitioned President Tsao Kun asking for the Government's complete wishes in the matter. The Bureau has also asked for an appropriation of $390,000 with which to entertain the Tibetan dignitary, when he arrives in Peking, but at the last meeting of the Cabinet it was decided that that amount seemed a little high and it was returned to the Bureau with a request that it be cut in some particulars.

The members of the Association for Tibetan Affairs have just sent a petition to the President in which they make a strong request that Chinese sovereignty be restored over Tibet—a theory that has existed but has never really existed for many years—else the British wrest the rich province from China.

The petition reads as follows:

"In the Second year of the Chinese Republic as the result of management of the Chinese authorities in Tibet, the Szechuen soldiers in the area caused disturbances, and the officials were driven to the border lines. Later, Mr. Chen Yi-huan was forced to sign the Sino-Tibetan provisions under duress, at Simla while Mr Peng Jih-hsin, because of minor troubles, lost a piece of land.

POSTPONE A SETTLEMENT

"Accordingly, since then, the Chinese officials for Tibet have to find lodgings in India, and the Szechuen border which is an integral part of Chinese territory, has frequently been troubled by the Tibetans, while the British interposed to urge the conclusion of the Sino-Tibetan treaty. In view of the frequent trouble in Tibet, and due to the opposition raised by the Szechuen people the Central Government has postponed settling the Tibetan questions for over ten years. Consequently the territory of several thousand li that has been governed by China for hundreds of years has passed out Chinese lands. It is indeed a matter of regret and shame to China.

"Fortunately, at the last Washington Conference, the various Powers recognised Tibet as a part of Chinese territory. Now that peace has come to Szechuen, through the efforts of the troops despatched by Marshal Wu Pei-fu, and the Panshan Lama is friendly to the Republican Government, and will personally come to the Capital, it is the very time for the people throughout the country to rise up and help reorganise Tibetan affairs. In case this good opportunity is again lost, after ten years when the elders in Tibet are dead, it is feared that the young generation there will not know that the Chinese Republic is their fatherland.

IN CLOSE TOUCH

"We, being either residents of Tibet or having industrial and commercial interests in that territory, are in close touch with

Soviet Representatives At London Parley Trying To Evade Old Debt Issue

British Delegates Bent On Getting Declaration Before Making Promises; Progress At Conference Is Slow

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—A divergence of views with regard to the satisfaction of claims against Russia is revealed in the Communique of today's proceedings of the Anglo-Soviet Conference. The British delegation declared that it was unable to accept the statement made by the Soviet delegates at the meeting on June 20 to the effect that Russia could not undertake to pay the pre-War debts in full, with back interest. The British delegates at the same time disclaimed any desire to be unreasonable and did not propose that the debts should be paid fully and immediately.

The Soviet delegates, emphasising the crippled state of the finances of Russia, pointed out Russia's great efforts in the Great War and her subsequent trials, including famine. Respecting the money claims by private persons, the Soviet delegates suggested that both Governments should determine a lump sum for the settlement thereof, and that simultaneously Article 10 of the Trade Agreement of 1921 should be repealed and the property rights of the Soviet in Great Britain come into force.

The Soviet delegates further proposed the postponement of the question of the claims arising from the nationalisation of private property, in view of the belief that the negotiations proceeding with the former owners with regard to granting them concessions of the property would materialise satisfactorily.

The British delegates said that, although progress had been made towards a settlement of various questions, it could not be ignored that there were still rather wide differences of opinion on the subject of pre-War debts and property claims. The British delegates would present counter-proposals to the Soviet for incorporation as articles in the proposed Treaty. It was insisted that the British Government was not adopting an uncompromising attitude, but was anxious to concede reasonable modifications. The present Government still entertained the goodwill to the Soviet Union, which was expressed on its assumption of power by the act of recognition of the Soviet.

The Soviet must remember that the British Government was not in a position to carry through extravagant measures. The British delegates believe that the Soviet Government would consult its own interests in endeavoring to meet the British view.

The Soviet representatives deprecated the pessimism with which it had been attempted to surround the Conference in some quarters, and insisted on Russia's inability to accept burdens which were incompatible with her resources.

(Reuter's Service)

Moscow, May 27.—Mr. Zinovieff, in a speech at the Communist Congress, declared that the payment of debts was an impossibility. Referring to the recent agitation within the party, he said that iron solidarity was a thousand times more urgently needed, while freedom of grouping was inadmissible.

SHRINER PARTY WILL PICNIC AT HENLI SUNDAY

Special Car Chartered For Regatta Day Trip

Members of Nomad Oasis Shrine Club, their wives, families, and friends, as well as other Shriners living in or passing through Shanghai will go to Henli next Sunday, June first, to witness the annual regatta and enjoy a regular old-fashioned basket picnic, according to the announcement by the Entertainment Committee. Basket lunches will be taken by all of the families, and there has been promised additional "chow" for those single men yet to acquire families.

A special railway car, No. 161, has been secured to carry the party to Henli and return. It will leave the North station at 7.15 a.m. and will reach Shanghai that evening at 6:47 p.m. It will reach Henli at 9:24 a.m., so that the Shrine party will be able to witness all the events.

Tiffin will be eaten in a grove which will be set aside for the Shrine party. In case any of the Shriners prefer to do so, they can have the noonday meal in one of the two dining cars that will be on the siding at Henli.

There are many places of beauty and historic interest nearby, so that those who wish to spend a part of the day in trudging to these can do so.

If possible, all members of the party should be at the station at 8 a.m., in order that they may get their tickets and reach car No. 161 before the last mad rush.

Dr. Tagore Here, Speaks On Education Of Young

Not often are the very young understood, sympathised with and championed by their adults. More infrequently still is there found a man ripe with the wisdom of years and experience in such perfect tune with the unformed but highly sensitive child mind, as is Rabindranath Tagore, the beloved Indian poet, essayist and philosopher.

Dr. Tagore, internationally known and respected, author of scores of books and winner of the Nobel prize, returned to Shanghai yesterday from Hankow and talked quietly on the subject which is nearest his heart—the education of children. The poet spoke informally before a group of invited guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bena, 90 Jessfield road, where he is staying during his sojourn in Shanghai.

A tall, spare man, carrying the story of his 63 years only in the calm peace of his face and in his white beard and hair, he held his audience enthralled for an hour while he spoke of the ideals which prompted him to organise his school in Shantiniketan, Bengal, an institution that is unique in the world.

EDUCATIONAL ESSENTIALS

Two things should be remembered in the education of children, the poet said. The first of these is that the child comes into the world with a highly sensitive subconscious mind that should be allowed to develop naturally during the time that it is attaining its growth; the second is that no check whatever should be put upon the boundless sympathy and love that a child naturally has for everything with which it comes in contact.

The ordinary schools to which children are sent are, in Dr. Tagore's mind, prisons where the relentless machinery of orthodox education oftentimes defeats its own purpose, which is to educate, and diverts the unhappy child mind from its natural bent into an approved-by-custom rut from which it escapes at the earliest opportunity with nothing to show but wasted time and quickly forgotten smatterings.

"In my own youth," said the poet, "I was taken from the naturally acquisitive freedom I loved and put into a factory of learning, a school. I loathed it and I rebelled. I hated learning

Press Comment Bitter When Veto Fails, Hanihara To Return Home

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 28.—Japan's protest against the Immigration Law, mentioned earlier, has been sent to America.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 28.—The Japanese Government deeply regretted the enactment of the exclusion provision in the Immigration Law in spite of its frequent representations since the introduction of the Bill into the House last December and in spite of "vigorous" repeated endeavors on the part of the President and Secretary of State Hughes to prevent inclusion of the discriminatory provision," says Baron Matsui, the Foreign Minister, in his official statement. "The Japanese Government remains unshaken in their opposition against the discriminatory legislation against Japanese and have instructed their Ambassador in Washington to lodge a solemn protest with the American Government in that connection."

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 28.—Representatives of the two Houses and the Diet today passed a resolution strongly protesting against the exclusion legislation, pledging their best effort for restoration of amity of the two nations by effecting withdrawal of the measure which it is believed, would clearly represent the wishes of the general body of public opinion in America.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, May 28.—Commenting on the American President's signature put to the new Immigration Bill all the newspapers here today, in their editorials, are unanimous in expressing deepest regret.

Trotsky Fiercely Attacked At Party Parley In Moscow

(Reuter's Service)

Moscow, May 27.—M. Trotsky, in a subdued speech at the Communist Party Conference, affirmed his solidarity with the rest of the party. He said that he regarded himself as a private soldier, and discipline was necessary in the stand against their enemies. His former attitude was dictated by the bureaucracy's threat to enter the Communist party and separate it from the workers.

M. Uglanoff fiercely attacked M. Trotsky and said that he did not regard him as private but as a commander. He declared that they looked to him for leadership and they could not have confidence in him if he only brought confusion in their ranks.

The Conference unanimously passed a resolution approving the policy of the Contral Committee.

Lumber Company Employe Was Showing New Man Over Territory

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, May 24.—Mr. Jay Dinsmore, who died on account of wounds inflicted by bandits, was a forestry expert of the China Import and Export Lumber Company, and had been in China for seven or eight years. He spoke Chinese quite fluently and was very friendly with, and well liked by all Chinese with whom he came in contact in the course of his business and travels. He had never experienced any difficulty when making pilgrimages into the interior, and in 1917 travelled on foot throughout the entire provinces of Hunan without experiencing a bad moment.

For the past five years Mr. Dinsmore had been stationed in the province of Fukien as Chief Forestry Inspector for his company. He leaves a mother and brother in the United States.

Only a week ago a resident of Hankow received a letter from Mr. Dinsmore saying that he was leaving for the States on furlough this Summer, and that his home address while in America would be in care of his brother John H. Dinsmore, 397 East Broadway, Owattonna, Minn.

No particulars have been received regarding Mr. MacKay who was captured, but it is believed that he is also an employe of the China Import and Export Lumber Company who was sent to Shahsien to relieve Mr. Dinsmore, the latter having been scheduled to leave very shortly for home.

Shahsien is a small village about two hundred li Southwest of Yenping on the Min River, in the province of Fukien. This town is one of the headquarters of the Lumber Company, and here during the Winter and early Spring months tremendous log rafts are made up in the dry river bed to await the high water season, when the lumber is carried by the tide up to Yenping and thence to Foochow, where the Lumber Company has its saw mills. Mr. Dinsmore was probably showing Mr. MacKay over his territory when the attack occurred which ended so disastrously.

Royal Party From Rome Enthusiastically Greeted In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—Their Italian Majesties, and the Crown Prince and Princess Mafalda this morning visited Westminster Abbey and the Cenotaph. King Victor Emanuel laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Warrior and also placed a wreath at the base of the Cenotaph in the presence of representatives of the Navy, Army and Air Force. A large crowd cheered the Royal visitors as they drove back to the Palace.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, May 27.—The visit of Their Italian Majesties to England has been made the occasion for copious articles by the press.

The Idea Nazionale attributes credit to Signor Mussolini for solution of the Jubaland question which, it says, has been poisoning relations between Britain and Italy.

The Fascist organ, the Impero, declares that the happy solution to the Jubaland problem will doubtless be the starting point for more complete understanding between Britain and Italy. The journal adds that Italy is anxious to reconquer an Empire and is looking with faith to Signor Mussolini who began with Jubaland. Italians must persevere in Africa and Asia.

The Tribuna says that Italy greeted joyfully the advent of Labour into power in Britain because continuance of Marquess Curzon's foreign policy would have rendered an agreement with regard to Jubaland impossible, while the enlightened mind of Mr. Ramsay Macdonald has found a settlement.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—The Italian Sovereigns, the Prince of Piedmont and Princess Mafalda received an enthusiastic welcome in the City today, when they were presented with a golden casket at a luncheon at the Guildhall, where the scene was brilliant. Twelve members of the British Royal Family, the Premier and members of the Cabinet, distinguished soldiers and sailors and other prominant personages, including the Maharajah of Kapurtmala, were present. The banqueting hall was profuselv decorated with pink roses and Italian flags.

Replying to the Lord Mayor's toast King Victor Emanuel expressed his warm thanks, specially to the Prince of Wales for attending the ceremony. He declared that the Italians would warmly appreciate the Lord Mayor's tribute to Italian cooperation in the war. Italy desired to proceed, united to the noble British nation, along the paths of progress and civilisation.

CAPT. D'OISY MAY DEPART FOR PEKING EARLY TODAY

Will Start If Weather Is Favorable

EXPECT U. S. MEN

American Fliers Due Here Next Monday

If wind and weather are favorable, Captain Pelletier d'Oisy, whose sensational flight from Paris was abruptly checked when his plane crashed in landing at Kiangwan, May 20th, will start for Peking this morning.

According to the daring aviator's plans last night, he and Sergt. Vesin, his mechanician, were to take off from the flying field at Lunghua between 5 and 4.30 a.m. today, using the small Breguet plane furnished by the Chekiang government. Owing to the obstruction met with at the hands of Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of Nanking, Capt. d'Oisy must plan on making Hsuchowfu as his first landing place and as the machine has a limited flying radius—even with alterations to permit carrying more fuel—everything must be in his favor in order to enable him to make this extended jump. Should the wind be unfavorable he would not be able to drive the machine that far.

Further tests of the Breguet reconnaisance plane were made by aviators at Lunghua yesterday, a new engine having been installed since Monday, when the old one was found not to be in satisfactory condition.

After Hsuchowfu, the next stop on the schedule is Tsinanfu, thence to Peking, which point the fliers hope to reach in the afternoon.

No further word was received here yesterday, it was stated, from Tuchun Chi but it was intimated that the official would make no objection to a landing at Hsuchowfu, though this point is also under his jurisdiction.

AMERICANS DUE MONDAY

Further word received here yesterday from Tokio was to the effect that the American world fliers should reach Shanghai from Nagasaki Monday.

They are expected to leave the Japan port about 6 o'clock in the morning on the 400-odd mile jump to Shanghai, which should bring them to their landing place in the Whangpoo near Black Point at about noon.

It is believed that the airmen will remain in Shanghai for two days, though nothing definite has been stated on this point, and plans for their entertainment are being made by the local Post of the American Legion.

Britain To Build Great New Airship

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—The draft contract with the Airship Guarantee Company, in connection with the Government's intention to initiate a comprehensive program of lighter than air research and experiment, provides for the construction of an airship conforming to the requirements of the Air Ministry on the principles of airworthiness laid down by the Aeronautical Research Committee. The prescribed trials will include tests in Britain and a voyage to India. The price of the airship will be £300,000 of which £100,000 will be payable immediately the contract is signed. A further initial payment of £50,000 will be made towards the contractors' capital expenditure. The sum of £250,000 will be repaid if the ship, before the flight trials are held, fails to satisfy certain vital conditions. Should, however, the ship satisfy these, but not carry out the flight trials successfully, the remaining £50,000 will be withheld wholly or partly, according as the performance approximates the requirements. The company may subsequently purchase the airship for use on an approved British airship transport service at £150,000.

WILLIAM HEUGHAN TO APPEAR AGAIN HERE NEXT WEEK

Another "All-Scottish" Night Planned For June 5th

The multitude of friends he made during his first engagements here and those who did not at that time have opportunity to hear him will be rejoiced to learn that Mr. William Heughan, famous Scottish singer, and his able companions are to appear again in Shanghai.

Mr. Heughan, with Dave Kennedy, Scottish humorist, and Miss Sayer, their delightful accompanist, left for Tientsin and Peking Sunday night, where they will appear under St. Andrew's Society auspices. Their next appearances here will be on June 4 and 5 at the Lyceum Theater. The June 5th appearance will comprise another Grand All-Scottish Night, such as gave so much pleasure on the occasion of their introduction here and will be under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society and Shanghai Scottish, S. V. C. On June 7th Mr. Heughan will appear at the Country Club in a farewell concert on the eve of departure for Australia in continuation of the world tour.

Women's Commercial And Savings Bank Formally Opened

A number of responsible Shanghai business men have embarked upon a new venture in the realm of banking in this part of the world by founding the Shanghai Women's Commercial and Savings Bank, at the corner of Nanking and Chihli Roads, the formal inauguration of which took place Tuesday. There was a steady stream of depositors in the course of the day, the takings amounting to over $500,000, indicating that, even in its initial stage, confidence is felt in the soundness of the new institution by the saving public of Shanghai.

The name of the Bank may imply, on the face of it, that the institution is intended to serve women's interests only, but in the course of a talk yesterday with Miss Z. T. Nyien, the manageress of the Bank, who was for several years manager of the women's department of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank, a representative of THE CHINA PRESS was informed that business will be welcomed from men as well as from women. Miss Nyien is an alumnus of McTyeire School and is experienced in the banking business.

One of the features of the new Bank is the maintenance of classes for students who are being trained for the banking business.

Japan Will File Protest To Exclusion

for the next Presidential election. the reason why he failed to veto the Japanese exclusion Bill is clear, and declares the fact that he lacks moral courage cannot be denied.

The "Jiji" says that in view of the fact that public opinion in the United States clearly blames the action of the American Congress it is hopeful for the situation to be improved in future.

The "Nichi Nichi" says "the fact is indisputable that America is so much corrupt that she does not care if she commits injustice.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 28.—The Cabinet today decided to file a protest against the immigration legislation on the ground that it was in violation of the "Gentlemen's Agreement" as well as the America-Japanese Treaty.

It was further decided to allow Mr. Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador in Washington, to return home.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 28.—The President's signature to the Immigration Bill re-evoked a storm of criticism not only against America but also against the Government's alleged diplomatic failure. Though signature was generally considered inevitable in view of America's domestic political situation, the news that it had been done was received with very deep disappointment.

The Jiji voices alarm as to possible grave consequences unless prudence and sincerity characterise the efforts of both nations for wise adjustment and counsels for Japan "patience and ceaseless appeal to the American conscience."

On the other hand, other papers declare that lodging protests is sheer waste of time. Thus the Nichi Nichi, while appreciating President Coolidge's efforts for Japan, asserts that it is no use resorting to arguments and that it is time for Japan to do something and act with very firm resolution if she thinks she has any honor to protect.

The Yamato, in a more bellicose vein, declares that the inevitable impression of Japan must be that America does not regard the feelings of others seeing that she could have reached the same ends without hurting anyone. The journal declares that Japan has never been faced with a more serious crisis in her history, justifying her protecting her prestige at all costs.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, May 27.—In an interview with press representatives today, Baron Matsui, Minister of Foreign Affairs, with reference to the passage of the U. S. Immigration Bill, stated briefly as follows:

That the new Immigration Bill of the United States is about to be put in force as from July 1 as a result of the President's signature is to be greatly regretted, The Imperial Government of Japan has decided to hold an extraordinary Cabinet meeting tomorrow, when some concrete counter-measures will be decided upon. It is the intention of the Japanese Government on the one hand to ask for the American Government's reflection, and to point out the unreasonableness of such a law from the view-point of the Japanese-American treaty of commerce and navigation, and on the other hand to study measures to be taken in connection with the Gentlemen's Agreement.

The Japanese Government will, as soon as some concrete counter-measures have been decided upon, give telegraphic instructions to Mr. Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador in Washington, requesting him to lodge a strong protest with the American Government. It is expected that the Japanese Ambassador will return home when all his remaining affairs have been settled.

JUDGMENT GIVEN BY MIXED COURT IN COTTON SUIT

A. B. Rosenfeld And Son Win Case Against Chinese

A case involving the question of whether certain cotton was Shensi cotton or not, after a prolonged hearing, and reference to experts, was decided yesterday by a judgment handed down by Assessor Bucknall and Magistrate Loh, in the Mixed Court.

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son sued Tsung Hong, and Zang Yong-zea, cotton merchants, for wrongful delivery of cotton, which the defendants had contracted to sell the plaintiffs. The contract for Shensi cotton, of the 1922 and 1923 crops, but when it was delivered, it was alleged, plaintiffs found it was not Shensi cotton at all, but another kind.

After taking evidence, and hearing experts on the matter the Court decided to refer the question to Messrs. Arnhold Bros., both sides agreeing. As a result, judgment was given yesterday in favor of the plaintiffs for Tls. 5,500.

Mr. F. J. Schuhl appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. F. W. Hadley for the defendants.

Dr. Tagore Here, Speaks On Education Of Young

essons from books which were thought good for me because they had been taught to my teachers when they were children. I longed, as any child longs, to get out of my prison.

THE GROWING MIND

"While the mind of a child is growing, say from infancy to twelve or thirteen years of age, nothing should be forced upon it. The amount of material, abstract and otherwise, which a small child acquires simply from choice, is amazing, especially in proportion with the knowledge acquired in a similar period of time by an adult's conscious mind. The thing, then, to do, is simply to guide the young mind into the paths it seeks of its own natural accord, to surround the child with such varied examples of culture that the entire process of early education is not only painless, but a happy, natural absorption.

"In the school which I founded at Shantiniketan I carried this ideal out and there we have met with great success. There our children's early education is really a great, carefully-planned play time which their childish curiosity turns to its own profit. Nature, the great teacher, reveals all the magic of her science to them, from season to season; every day is filled with surprises. Instead of geography at a certain hour on a certain day, and history at another hour on that day, there is, perhaps, literature on one day, music the next, weaving on another, the principles of farming on another, and so on.

"No attempt is made to coerce the child into any one of these things. But surround a child with interesting activities, give him an earnest group of people engrossed in something that is new to his young mind, and his curiosity sends him in that direction and he has learned something unconsciously."

EMBRYO ARTISTS

There are great artists in Dr. Tagore's school. And there are embryo artists destined to be great in his small pupils who, simply from watching the color masters at work, have been spurred to imitation and thence to a development of their own creative instinct if they possess the instinct for art. So it is with music, with literature, with the lowlier arts of husbandry, and so on.

When the child has completed this happy natural childhood, during which he has learned, perhaps, three or four languages, and a thousand other useful things, he is ready to be guided and directed into the paths of higher learning which he may choose.

Dr. Tagore appreciates to the fullest that adult minds and developed young minds make their own choice, select their own subjects and, to achieve their ends, discipline themselves by discarding extraneous influences in order to concentrate on their choice. He believes that the selection and discipline should be self-administered; that adults should not chose for children and spoil the beautiful years; that greater results will be obtained by allowing the child to develop naturally and postpone the school age from, say, six to twelve.

The other great ideal which Dr. Tagore has held aloft in his school and which is a development of his unusual ideas on education, is the ideal of spiritual unity of all races. Sects which teach discrimination will have no place in the future when sympathy with the beliefs, ideas and ideals of all other peoples and races will be the keynote of a world symphony of peace.

Dr. Tagore, upon the conclusion of his talk, welcomed the many questions which were eagerly put to him and answered them all, despite the fact that he had made a fatiguing journey to Shanghai but a few hours previous.

The great poet will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bena until Friday when he leaves for Japan, at the invitation of the University of Tokio.

BUS SERVICE TO BE STARTED HERE IN JULY

Avenus Edward VII Route Will Be First To Be Put Into Operation

Shanghai's motor bus service, to be operated by the China General Omnibus Company, Ltd., will be inaugurated not later than July of this year on a route along Avenue Edward VII and Great Western Road from the Bund to Avenue Haig, correspondence published in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette indicates.

The correspondence also reveals an agreement entered into by the company and the council, whereby the Settlement authorities agree to split with the French Concession the road fee of Tls. 100 per route mile per quarter on the Avenue Edward VII line.

In a letter dated April 30, Messrs. Arnhold and Company, general managers for the omnibus company, inform the commissioner of public works that they expect delivery of six chassis and six sets of body work before the end of May. They hope, therefore, to be able to commence service at least during July, and propose to operate first along Route IX, which is from the Bund along Avenue Edward VII, Manila Road and Avenue Foch to Avenue Haig. They suggest the division of the Council's fee on the Avenue Edward VII route with the French Concession, inasmuch at half of the road is in each settlement. To this the Council agrees in its reply, but notes that for the present and until the scheduled widening of Manila Road is carried out, Route IX shall follow Avenue Edward VII around the Settlement boundary so as to exclude Manila Road entirely. This arrangement is accepted as satisfactory in a later letter of the bus company.

TEN CENT FARE FROM HONGKONG CLEAR TO CANTON

Chinese Steamer Rate War Brings Astonishing Cut

A steamer trip of over eighty miles for ten cents! That is now possible, in consequence of an announcement by the Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboat Company to the effect that, commencing from tonight, the fare to and from Canton for steerage passengers will be reduced from $1.10 to the nominal sum of ten cents, states the Hongkong Telegraph of May 24.

This surprising development comes about as the result of a rate which, it is said, has been brought about by Chinese owners of former French river steamers. The allegation is that these owners have been cutting rates and have shown no disposition to come to any agreement with competing lines. As a consequence, the Steamboat Company has resolved to fight the issue by making this big reduction on steerage passages.

It is not expected that this reduced rate will remain long in operation, it being thought that it will have the effect of either putting competitors out of business or bringing them round to the necessity of maintaining agreed rates.

A steamer trip of over eighty miles for less than threepence must be about the cheapest transportation fare anywhere in the world at the moment, we should imagine, the Hongkong paper comments.

Council To Defray One-Half Cost Of New Tide Gauge

The Whangpoo Conservancy Board having decided to replace the existing Tide Gauge by a new installation, at an estimated cost of Tls. 4,000, the Council has agreed to defray one-half of the cost thereof, today's issue of the Municipal Gazette reports. It is proposed to erect a small kiosk at the end of the jetty, primarily for the protection of the Tide Gauge instruments, and the seats round the kiosk will be available to the public.

American School Pupils To Appear In Four—Act Drama

The senior class of the Shanghai American School is to stage a four act drama entitled "All The Comforts Of Home" at 7:30 p.m. Saturday evening, June 7, and 8:30 p.m. Monday evening, June 9, both performances to be held in the school auditorium. This play is the most ambitious attempted by the American School this year, and is expected in many ways to prove the most successful.

With the proceeds from these two evenings, the Senior Class plans to purchase some much needed scenery and stage paraphenalia, to be presented to the school Dramatic Club for its use in future productions.

New Depot Planned To Aid Inspection Of Public Ricshas

Construction of a new depot for the inspection of public ricshas at the corner of Point and Kungping Roads has been decided upon by the Shanghai Municipal Council, according to announcement made in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

The estimated inclusive cost of construction is Tls. 6,000.

The need for such a depot was emphasised by the Commissioner of Police, who pointed out that after thoroughly going into the question of ricsha inspection he was of the opinion that in order to maintain anything like a proper standard it was imperative for every public ricsha to be subjected to a rigorous inspection once every month.

The present vehicle depot at Gordon Road is badly located and inadequate for this work, as it will entail the inspection of approximately 500 ricshas daily. The site of the new depot will be convenient inasmuch as the majority of ricsha hongs are situated in the neighborhood.

Private ricsha owners are reminded that the new license condition requiring such ricshas to carry two metal lamps, one on each side, exhibiting white light towards the front and red light towards the rear, will be enforced on and after June 1.

Consular Body Gives Opinion On Chilean Status

The decision that in cases where Chilean nationality has been claimed and established, the claimant should come under the jurisdiction of the Chilean authorities has been given by the Consular Body, according to todays' Municipal Gazette.

The question arose recently in the Mixed Court in cases involving defendants who claimed Chilean citizenship and the issue as to whether Chile enjoyed extra-territorial rights and privileges was raised. The Consular Body's decision reads as folliws:

"While the Consular Body is unable to express an opinion in regard to the claim of any particular individual to any particular nationality, it considers that when Chilean citizenship has been established, the person possessing such nationality should be handed over to the Chilean authorities to be dealt with."

Accept Offer Of Landowners For Culverting Creek

An offer made by the Chinese owners of the land fronting the Tsze Pang Creek, between Bubbling Well and Burkill Roads, to pay the actual cost of culverting the creek, estimated at Tls. 15,000, has been accepted by the Council, says today's issue of the Municipal Gazette. This improvement is being made in order to permit development of the property by the erection of semi-foreign shops and Chinese hong houses, and work will be commenced at an early date.

with Arcola installed

The first cost of Arcola is small—
The final cost is—nothing at all, for Arcola has proved time and time again that in a remarkably short period it pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

With old-fashioned stoves and fireplaces, most of the heat goes right up the chimney. With Arcola the water absorbs the heat from the fuel and distributes it in pipes evenly to each room. That is one reason why Arcola is so economical.

Friction Between Buyer And Seller Big Racing Factor In Past, But Getting Less

Owners In Treaty Ports Making More Intelligent Effort To Develop Better Sources Of Supply

Note—This remarkable summary of the racing situation in China will, we feel sure, appeal to all fair minded sportsmen who have the good of racing at heart as the clearest survey of racing that has been printed here in years. "Pari Mutual," it may be stated, is an authority second to none on racing in China. His article will be published in installments, of which this is the fourth.

BY PARI MUTUAL

During the last few years some of the racing fraternity thought the time had arrived to strike the restraining shackles from their freedom of action. They quietly began to inquire, through their firm's representatives in Manchuria and Mongolia, if there were not other and better sources of pony production than those most usually tapped by the dealer. They found the dealers tapped only the minutest part of Mongolia, and curiously enough that part which produced the worst ponies as far as shape and speed were the criterions of quality. With the prospect of obtaining the goods from more independent sources they worked through their own agents and got what they wanted and some of these selections, though Tartar ponies, justified the break away from dull routine.

FRICTION DEVELOPED

It was no fault of the dealers that the better type of Mongol Tartar pony was not in the majority of those racing on the courses of the treaty ports of China. Some of the highest Mongol chiefs are very lacking in education and possess that stamp of arrogance, in an inordinate degree that goes with the want of education, equally among Europeans and Asiatics. Though ignorant themselves they looked down on the Chinese dealers, who could not speak to them in the Mongol language, as outer barbarians and treated them as so much dirt. It can be readily understood that the dealers accustomed to a better style of treatment in the treaty ports of their calling, preferred to carry on the business of pony buying in places where they were well treated and things were made a little bit more comfortable for them. The number of such places in a wild and uncultivated country, were naturally limited, and confined to such as were colonised in Mongolia by Chinese or half bred Mongol settlers, farmers and traders. For the most part these places were confined to Eastern Inner Mongolia and particularly that portion south of the Shara Muren or Ying Chung Ho, known as Pei Chili or Chili North of the Great Wall, with pony markets at Sui Yuan, Kalgan, Pakaw and Dolonor (north west of the Imperial Hunting park or Wei Chang). It is only in the most recent years that our dealers have ventured north across the Shara Muren by way of the Surburga and Charburga trade route to Shan-pei-tze. Over this market only touches a fraction of the great Mongolian breeding grounds. It is about ten years ago since a noted bandit stole from the chief of Khulussutai, in the Chaourdagol district, a beautiful dun pony which found its way to Shanghai and raced under the name of Sir Victor. Until very recently that pony was the only one to come from the north midland steppes of Mongolia. More recently both Peking and Shanghai have had improved Sir Victors from the Shihlenggol plains south-west of Kiakhta and Northwest of Urga. Of these unfortunately there have been too few reaching us or every one would want them. These have not, however come through dealers but been procured by men whose occupations bring either them or their representatives to those regions. It may safely be said that the dealers have scarcely touched the sources of supply of ponies and in particular the betterbred supplies in Mongolia.

MARKET CENTERS

The markets earlier mentioned as those patronised by our dealers are the centers, where concentrate the Mountain type of pony as distinct from the pony of the plains. This mountain type is a splendid fellow for the purpose that nature intended him, which certainly was not galloping over race courses or any other course, but rather a fatigue enduring weight carrier, so much beloved by our beefsteak Champions.

Why should there be this difference between the Mountain pony of Mongolia, and that of the plains. The reason is simple to any who have thought it worth while living with unadulterated nature and learning the lessons that nature is only too willing to teach its interested students. Breeding for generations upon generations in this mountain environment has burned into the Tartar ponies of these regions the characteristics which are essential to a mountain environment. They stamp the progeny as simply mountain ponies as distinct from the pony of the steppes.

The regions of the Khingan Range, though more heavily snow clad in the winter than the Mongolian plains or steppes, are covered with more or less stunted trees. These trees, though more fibrous and less nutritive than the sparse grasses and succulent roots under the lighter lying snows of the plains, form the chief winter dietry of the mountain bred ponies of Mongolia.

WHAT NATURE REVEALS

Does this tell the student of natural history nothing? Does it give him an index to read the meaning of the story of the conformation of the mountain bred pony? Does it not tell him of the early history of the development of the U neck of the mountain region species, as distinct from the long neck of the pony of the plains? What is the effect of mountain environment upon the ponies of such regions? Mountain animals, through the nature of things, require to be more sure footed than their cousins of the plains. An all protecting nature therefore shortens the legs so as to lower the center of gravity, tending to an even balance. The sparse feeding to be found on the ground in the winter forces the animal to look for his food elsewhere, and he finds it in the bark and branches of the more or less stunted trees. This food being very fibrous is difficult for the normal pony to masticate. Nature supplies, through the greater lime and iron in the mountain regions, a means of producing stronger teeth in the mountain animal. These teeth are set in a denser and heavier jaw bone than that required by the pony of the plains. To maintain balance nature provides a heavier type head to carry that the pony on the plains To maintain balance nature provides a heavier type head to carry that heavier and denser jaw. This alteration of nature by nature to suit native requirements calls for a still further alteration. The heavier head on a long neck would be too heavy to lift from the ground and the animal has to procure its food amongst the trees. Kindly nature shortens the neck at the same time giving it the U bend enabling the heavier head 'to throw' and reach the food amongst the overhead branches of the trees. It is the right to live and the necessity of procuring a living that have brought about the most radical changes in this world of ours and not the least has been the gradual development of the types of animals to suit their environment.

Boxing Tonight

Tonight, on the Carlton Roof, there will be staged what looks to be the best boxing bout offered here in months. The principals will be Billy Tingle and a Filipino battler named Young Gonzalo. The fight will be for the bantam weight championship of the Orient.

This bout ought to draw a good crowd. Boxing fans here are acquainted with Billy Tingle, and know what he can do. They know that he is a fast and capable boxer who could hold his own in almost any company. They know that boxing fans in New York and London are paying much more to see less accomplished boxers every night.

Gonzalo, according to Jack Saunders and others who have seen him in action, including Tingle himself, is a fighter of championship caliber. Saunders, his manager, thinks that some day this boy will rule the roost in his weight class.

It will be a good fight, with plenty of boxing and plenty of slugging, and it will be staged under perfect conditions. Good seats will be obtainable for three dollars, surely not an excessive price considering the class of the attraction.

There will be an interesting preliminary card to precede this smashing wind-up.

It is up to the fans, therefore, to turn out. If they want good boxing, here it is.

Interport Rifle Team Selected

The team to represent Shanghai; in the Rifle Match against Hongkong, Singapore, and Penang; has now been selected. The following men will shoot for the Interport Shield, and the honor of Shanghai in Rifle shooting, at 4:30 p.m. today.

Capt. Barrett, Collaco, A. M., Chen, J. S., Coghlan, A. J. P., Hodges, F. E., Kan, D. W., Langley, C. J., Main, J. R., Dr. Ransom, S. A., Slater, A. W., Terrill, W. J., Watson, J. M.

Reserves: Rose, W. T., Glover, C. W.

The above men, as well as others who were not selected, have been putting in some useful practice; and the Shanghai team is expected to compile a good score; as they have been doing quite well at the practice shoots.

It is unfortunate that some of our best shots who usually use the Long Lee Enfield, or the Springfield rifle; were not available for this shoot, as they were unable to obtain the Short Lee Enfield rifle; which is stipulated in the condition laid down for the Interport match.

EMPLOYE SUES ON CLAIMS FOR SALARY ARREARS

An employee's claim for alleged arrears of salary and commissions on sales, said to be due him, occupied the attention of Judge Milton D. Purdy in the United States Court for China yesterday. J. P. Fonseca sued Muller and Phipps (China), Ltd., to recover the sum of Tls. 14,901.81, the total of his claim under the above two heads.

Mr. F. J. Schuhl appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Stirling Fessenden and H. R. Snyder appeared for the defence.

The story, as told for the plaintiff in the pleadings, was that he was engaged by the firm of Muller, Phipps and Hodges, (China), Ltd., a British company, on May 31, 1920, in the capacity of accountant, at a salary of $340 per month and one percent commission on all business which he brought in, with the exception of that from Messrs. Sincere's and Wing On's After January 1, 1921, the above salary was increased to $400 per month. In May of that year an arrangement was made with the defendant company to take over its assets and liabilities, and the plaintiff was retained in the defendant's employ in the same capacity and at the same salary, but claimed that during the period of his service defendant had failed to pay him his whole salary, and had paid nothing on account of commissions.

In their answer, defendants stated that the firm of Muller, Phipps and Hodges (China), Ltd., went into liquidation and that all debts of that firm were paid by the liquidators, plaintiff failing to file with them any claim he might have against the company. As for themselves, defendants denied that they were indebted to plaintiff in any sum whatsoever. For a further defence they alleged that while in their employ, defendant, in his capacity as accountant, received monies on behalf of the company to the amounts of G.$89.77, Tls. 1,640.-99 and $4,182.15, all of which sums, they alleged, plaintiff secretly and fraudulently, and without accounting for the same, converted and appropriated to his own use, which sums defendants pleaded as a set off.

Plaintiff, in the witness box, said his salary was originally $340 per month but that he consented to draw only $200 per month. When his salary was increased to $400, he later drew $300 per month, and it was for the unpaid arrears that he was claiming. Witness denied that the company of Muller, Phipps and Hodges (China), Ltd., went into liquidation. It was taken over by the defendants, who paid the debts of the old company, he doing that for them, and not the liquidators, as stated. On the question of commissions, witness was unable to give exact information as to the amount he alleged was due to him, but said that if he could go over the firm's sale sheets he would be able to trace the business he brought in. Given an opportunity to do so, it was found this would require so much time that the case was adjourned until this morning.

Meeting Today To Discuss Proposal For World's Fair

Attendance of all persons interested in the development of Shanghai as a world center is requested at a meeting to be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of discussing the proposal advanced by Mr. G. A. Bena to arrange a world's fair for Shanghai.

Mr. Bena's plan, which suggests the holding of a mammoth exposition which would attract exhibitors and visitors from all parts of the world, has already been given the unofficial endorsement of leading members of the business community and heads of local business organizations.

The purpose of the meeting today will be to discuss the scheme generally and to start the work of forming a preliminary organization to study the matter.

WETHERED PLAYS BRILLIANT GOLF IN CHAMPIONSHIP

Title Holder Disposes Of Ex-Oxonian; School Boy Shows Well

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—Play for the British Amateur Golf Championship was resumed in glorious weather today at St. Andrew's. Features of the day were Wethered's brilliance in defeating the ex-Oxonian, D. Cox, by 7 and 6 and the splendid fight of the schoolboy champion, Mathieson, against the Cambridge captain and English international, Storey, the latter winning by 2 and 1. N. Kellayton beat Hilton by 6 and 5, depriving the latter of the distinction of winning his hundredth amateur championship match. Tolley beat the Bradfordian, Clough, by 4 and 3, and Braid beat Bell (Inverleven), by 7 and 6. The only American competitor. Brown of Honolulu, beat Graham (Liverpool) by 2 and 1 in the first round. All the other matches were second round contests.

HOLLAND WINS

Paris, May 28.—Holland beat Rumania by 6 goals to 0 in the Olympic Association Football competition.

Palos Nine Beats Penguins, 7 To 3

The Penguin and Palos held their first baseball game of their series between the River Gunboats yesterday at Hongkew Park. The Palos being already the winners of the Upper Yangtze trophy, showed themselves capable of hanging on to their prize English, of the Palos pitched a dandy game and was backed by the other players in ship-shape fashion.

The Penguin beat the Japanese team a week or so ago and had a good deal of confidence which must have led them astray. The Palos had a rally in the second inning and the score soared to six runs for them with the Penguin with only one. Final score at the seventh inning 7 to 3 in favor of the Palos.

It seems quite comical that the Palos crew is in such wonderful shape after its eighteen months sojourn at the hilly city of Chungking. So far this little ship has beaten the Penguin at baseball and basketball the latter games' score being 29 to 13. Its theatrical stunts that were pulled off at the Navy "Y" last Saturday and the previous Saturday were very successful according to all hands attending. They have to thank Welshbillig for their many successful performances and it was due largely to him that the things came off so well.

SOUTH AFRICANS GET DRAW WITH M.C.C. AT LORDS

Home Team Declares With 191 For 4 Wickets In Second Inning

(Reuter's Service)

The match between the M.C.C. and the South Africans at Lord's was drawn. The M.C.C. scored 145 yesterday. This morning the South Africans carried their unfinished innings to 192 (Commaille 39 not out). Douglas took 6 wickets for 65. The M.C.C. followed and declared with a score of 191 for 4 wickets (Russell 45, Hearne 45, Hendren 44 not out). At the close of play the South Africans had scored 90 for 1 wicket, Taylor having made an unfinished 50.

At Swansea Surrey beat Glamorgan by 298 runs. For Surrey Shepherd scored 88 and 105 and Jennings took 5 Glamorgan wickets in the 1st innings for 17 and 5 in the second for 22.

At Chesterfield Lancashire beat Derbyshire by an innings and one run. Derbyshire made 146 in their first innings, Parkin taking 7 wickets for 59, and 40 in their second innings, Parkin taking 5 wickets for 6 and R. Tyldesley 5 for 30. Lancashire made 187 runs.

At Bradford Yorkshire beat Notts by 3 wickets. Rhodes took 5 wickets for 30 in Notts's second innings and Staples took 5 Yorkshire wickets for 22 in the second innings.

At Leicester, Leicestershire beat Hampshire by 4 wickets.

At Ilford Sussex beat Essex by 3 wickets. In Essex's first innings the Sussex bowler, Tate, took 7 wickets for 45.

At Birmingham Worcestershire beat Warwickshire on the 1st innings. Warwick made 84 in the 1st innings, Root taking 7 wickets for 33. In their second innings they made 254 for 8 wickets and declared. Worcester made 165 and 48 for 8 wickets.

At Blackheath Kent and Somerset tied on the 1st innings. Somerset scored 188 and 188 for 9 wickets declared. Kent made 188 and 12 for 0 wicket. They score two points each.

Chinese Charged With Imitation Of Trade Marks

Imitation of the labels of the Sun Maid Raisin Association was the charge brought against a shop keeper named Tsang Soong-yue who appeared before Assessor Martin and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Detective Sergeant Papp testified that he had executed a search warrant at 321 Shantung Road and had seized a large quantity of imitation labels. Mr. J. W. Schoenfeld appeared for the complainants and Mr. L. K. Kentwell for the accused, the latter applying for a remand and for bail. The case was remanded until next Tuesday and bail was set at $2,000.

Good Taste In Dressing

ADDING INCHES TO THE SHORT WOMAN

Nature is a comical creature. She fashions us most capriciously. Some of us she makes short, others tall, some broad and others narrow. And I suppose nature, if she be capable of thinking and has a sense of humor, finds us most engaging in our efforts to build up the short, bring down the tall, pull in the broad and spread out the thin. So it goes! We are all striving after some ideal.

But take the short woman now. She wants to look taller and she is to be encouraged in her desire. While her clothes cannot actually add inches to her figure, they can, indeed, take away some of her littleness, and give an effect of longer, more graceful lines than she really possesses.

As I already have mentioned in a previous article, a short woman should favor hats that have a certain amount of height. She does not need an extreme hat, of course; but hats with a reasonable height in the crown are genrally very good.

When it comes to the matter of coats, she should remember that her suit coats should never be below her hips. That puts her figure all out of proportion and emphasises her size, when the coat of her suit is too long. On the other hand, when it comes to a top coat the length should be considered. A top coat should come well down to the edge of her skirt, since such a length carries the suggestion of lone lines. And it is better to choose a loose, semifitting garment rather than one that fits snugly. Certain types of capes are also quite good.

The woman who is short should avoid crosswise lines and trimmings on skirts. These tend to detract from the height of the figure. Lines and trimmings should run up and down.

Another way in which to add an appearance of height is by choosing frocks that hang straight from the shoulders, and are simply caught in with a loose belt or girdle.

It would be better, too, to avoid frocks that have contrasting color in waist and skirt. Such a combination cuts the figure in two, and so makes it appear even shorter, sometimes, than it actually is. Cultivate plain colors.

The Short Woman Wants To Be Taller

Generally speaking, long-waisted effects are better than short-waisted styles for the short woman. Occasionally there will be one who can wear an unusual frock with an extremely high waist, but this is a matter for the individual to decide. Many of us do not look well in short-waisted clothes.

If the small woman is slender she may wear certain things that her average sister, whether tall or short, may not even attempt. Frilly little organdie frocks for summer, or billowy, dainty evening gowns should be extremely favorable to her. But to look well in such clothes, a woman's figure must not only be slender, and not too tall, but it must be youthful as well.

Indeed, when it comes right down to facts, the lot of the short woman is not nearly so difficult as is the lot of many of her sisters who have height, but who lack other desirable attributes, she may consider herself indeed fortunate if it is only an affair of a few inches that have been overlooked. I never find myself in great sympathy with the woman who laments the fact that she is too short, for unless she has unusually heavy weight to go with it, I consider that she has a world of delightful opportunities that others are denied.

Tumultuous Scenes In German Reich

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 27.—Entrance to the Reichstag was only possible by means of permits when the Reichstag re-assembled today, but this did not prevent tumultuous scenes within. The Fifty Communist Deputies created pandemonium by clamouring for the release of their colleagues in gaol. When the uproar quieted down, a roll call was taken, but the din broke out again when General von Ludendorff's name was reached. The General's supporters responded with cheers and shook their fists at their opponents. The General himself, who evidently expected the onslaught, merely leaned back in his seat and smiled at the Communists. At the conclusion of the Roll Call the Communists submitted a motion demanding the release of the prisoners, in the course of which there was another outburst, coupled with the singing of the Internationale, to which the other parties responded with "Deutschland Uber Alles." The noise was so great that the President of the Reichstag put on his hat and walked out.

PEKING SENATE FIRM IN DEMAND TO NAME JUDGE

Cabinet May Adopt Subterfuge To Get Around Difficulty

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 25.—The demand of the Senate for the nomination of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to be submitted to that House for confirmation appears to be leading to further complications as the question develops. There is reason to believe that the Senate does not care very much who is appointed as long as its demand is granted. Officials circles, believe, however, that Judge Yu is not popular in Parliamentary circles and there is no doubt that the Cabinet fears that if his name were put forward he would be rejected. The consequence is that the Government has not taken the natural step of submitting to Parliament the name of the present Taili Chief Justice, Mr. Yu Chong-chi.

The Senate's interpretation of the Constitution on this matter, that although Judge Yu was appointed prior to the promulgation of the Constitution his position as Chief Justice required the endorsement of Parliament when the Constitution came into force, is not being seriously contested by the Cabinet. It, therefore, has to choose between nominating Judge Yu or someone else for the substantive post.

According to unofficial Chinese reports the course decided upon shirks the issue, for it is said that the Cabinet will submit the name of Dr. Wang Chung-hui, and if his nomination is passed Judge Yu will carry on the duties of Chief Justice in an acting capacity. If this plan is adopted Parliamentary circles expect that the Senate will reject Dr. Wang, not on personal grounds but because he is still nominally Minister of Justice and Chinese Judge at the Hague Arbitration Court.

CROWDS IN WUSIH CHEER EXECUTION OF FOUR ROBBERS

(China Press Correspondence)

Wusih, Ku. May 26.—Four men were executed here yesterday for armed robberies committed by them. Great crowds attended the execution and there was much cheering and rejoicing at the death of these men. When a foreigner who heard the cheering asked why the crowd was so pleased the reply received was that there had been so many armed robberies here lately that everyone was glad to see a few people brought to the block in hopes that the other robbers who are still at large would take warning. It is said that there have been seventeen armed robberies in Wusih within the last two months.

Five Are Charged In Bank Fraud Case

The three Chinese men and two women arrested Tuesday on the charge of defrauding the Bank of Communications of $10,000 by means of a forged native bank order appeared before Assessor Martin and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Detective Chief Inspector Cruickshank stated that the accused were arrested at 627 Yunnan Road and that the second accused admitted taking the order to the bank at the request of the first accused. This man had turned over $6,000 to the first accused and $3,000 to a man not yet arrested. The first accused admitted that this was so and said that he had given $2,000 to one of the women, of which amount $1,800 had been recovered.

The case was remanded one week and the first two accused were ordered to produce bail of $5,000 each; the two woman bail of $1,000 each and the third accused who is not seriously implicated, bail in the amount of $100.

Roosevelt Line Cargo Steamer Due On June 5th

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha Steamship Company, who are agents for the Roosevelt Steamship Co. of New York, have announced that one of the Roosevelt cargo boats is due in Shanghai next month. The Silver Ash which came from New York via Port Arthur Texas and via Panama is due in Shanghai on or about June 5 after calling at Yokohama and Dairen.

The steamer carries a large cargo of Texas Oil products and will dock at the Robert Dollar Wharf in Pootung.

Circus Coming

Mr. N. K. Borovsky, the well-known circus proprietor and manager, announces that he will open in the very near future his Hippodrome Circus at Verdun Gardens.

Mr. Borovsky is known to the Shanghai public as an excellent trainer of animals and as the manager of one of the best circuses in the Far East. Some twenty years ago he presented a carrousel made up of over 30 trained horses and also his aquatic pantomime which enjoyed much success at the Hippodrome Theater in London. He has given performances in the presence of high personages in China, Japan and Korea.

For the convenience of the public Mr. Borovsky has erected a special comfortable circus and it is hoped that the opening and the succeeding performances will enjoy the amount of success due to this veteran circus manager.

OPIUM CASES

Prison sentences without the option of fines were imposed upon two defendants in opium den cases at the Mixed Court yesterday. A Chinese convicted of running a den at 132 Kweichow Road and shown to have had three previous convictions in the Mixed Court was ordered to jail for two months and thereafter to be expelled the Settlement. A woman convicted of operating an establishment at 1987 East Yuhang Road was sentenced to two weeks' imprisonment and two men arrested for running a den at 814 Chekiang Road were fined $40 each, or one month in jail. A woman charged with engaging in the sale of opium was fined $500.

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples

"Can honestly say I am quite cured"

Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Newtown, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:

"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so-called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

Dotted Lines show where Rubber is cultivated

RUBBER PRODUCTS THAT ARE UNIFORMLY GOOD

A little over 15 years ago the United States Rubber Company started their own rubber plantations in Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula. They did this that they might always be certain of securing crude rubber unvarying in quality.

Today the United States Rubber Company owns 172 square miles of rubber plantations and 5,000,000 carefully selected rubber trees under the constant care and supervision of a corps of tree experts.

Recently this company announced two revolutionary advances in the art of rubber manufacture: The New Sprayed Rubber and The New Web Cord.

The first of these ensures your getting rubber articles made from the purest virgin rubber ever produced. A rubber with all its natural properties unimpaired by the addition of smoke residues and chemicals. The second advance means a cord tire of a quality even more consistent than ever before.

United States Rubber products always have been leaders in the rubber industry. Now—due to these two startling discoveries, you can be assured of rubber products that are more than ever uniformly good.

MUTT AND JEFF -:- -:- Home, Sweet Home -:- -:- By BUD FISHER

JEFF, MY HEART IS BREAKING BECAUSE MY WIFE WON'T LET ME COME HOME!
WHY DON'T YOU GO ANYWAY, MUTT?
PUT UP A STRONG PLEA. TELL HER YOU'RE A CHANGED MAN! SHE'LL LISTEN TO YOU!
I'LL DO IT! I'M TIRED OF LIVING AT THE LION TAMERS' CLUB.
IT'S LIKE FACING A MACHINE GUN TO GO IN THERE! THAT ROLLING-PIN HAS ME SCARED TO DEATH!
SO FAR, SO GOOD! I'M STILL ALIVE! NOW TO FACE THE LIONESS!
DEAR, ON BENDED KNEE I ASK YOU TO FORGIVE ME! THINK OF OUR LITTLE SON, M'LOVE! MY HEART IS BREAKING! FORGIVE ME. (SNIFF)
ONLY ON ONE CONDITION, MUTT!
IF I FORGIVE YOU WILL YOU DO JUST WHAT I WANT YOU TO?
I SWEAR IT, M'LOVE! ANYTHING! YES, ANYTHING!
I'M MAKING A DRESS AND I WANT TO FIT IT ON YOU, DEAR!
NO, NO! NIX! NOT THAT, M'LOVE!
DON'T BE SO FUSSY. I'VE STUCK YOU WITH A PIN ONLY THREE TIMES!
BUT BE JUST A WEE BIT MORE CAREFUL!
MAYBE SHE KILLED MUTT. I'LL DROP IN AND SEE IF ALL IS WELL.
TEE HEE! WHAT TH—?
MUTT, COME BACK WITH MY DRESS!
YOU SAP!
THIS HOME-LIFE STUFF IS THE BIG JOKE! IT'S THE LION TAMERS' CLUB FOR ME.
TEE HEE!

SHIPPING FIRM GIVES REPLIES TO QUESTIONS OFTEN ASKED

Set Of Helpful Answers For Patrons

MANY QUERIES

Healthy Interest Shown In Transport Problems

An outstanding feature of local shipping is the inquiring mind of exporters and importers. The increased number of questions which are asked daily at the shipping offices show that the men who pay transportation charges are eager to master the ins and outs, the rates, the laws and the traditions which affect costs in ocean transportation.

The larger shipping companies usually encourage these inquiries on the theory that intelligence in these somewhat complicated matters will benefit all parties concerned, reduce misunderstandings and law suits, and promote trade. Aside from the information required about current freight rates, most of the questions center about bills of lading, carriers' liabilities and the conferences and gentlemen's agreements regulating the rates for freight carried to and from Far Eastern ports.

One of the larger shipping offices has prepared, for ready reference, a set of answers covering the usual questions asked. This information was compiled from various reports of the United States Department of Commerce and other authentic sources. Below is given a resume of "What Every Shipper Ought to Know."

CONFERENCE PACTS

Conference agreements are "gentlemen's understandings" or written contracts whereby ocean carriers attempt, by one or more of several means, to restrain the severe competition encountered in ocean shipping. There may be merely an agreement to maintain rates at a fixed amount or to observe certain regulations relative to the service performed or there may be pooling arrangements.

In the case of pools, the methods followed may be by dividing, according to an agreed-upon formula, the freight revenue received, or by allotting a stipulated share of traffic in a particular trade to each of the carriers concerned. In the latter case, if any carrier obtains a greater share of traffic than that agreed upon, it must recompense the line which failed to secure its allotted share.

The Pacific Coast Westbound Conference, governing the trade of the west coast of the United States, is divided into two sections, the North Pacific and the South Pacific. The North Pacific section, with headquarters in Seattle, includes companies operating out of Puget Sound and Oregon ports. The South Pacific section, with offices in San Francisco, has jurisdiction over all lines operating out of California ports. The two sections hold their own meetings and are separate units, although the tariffs used are the same. Members of both divisions have posted a bonus of G.$25,000 to maintain the rates established by the conference. Various tariffs are issued, the principal ones being the general commodity tariff, the lumber tariff, and the overland tariff.

TARIFF BUREAU

With the exception of the Shipping Board operators, steamship companies maintaining services from Far Eastern ports to the United States and Canada are controlled by the Trans-Pacific Freight Tariff Bureau. The basis of this organisation is a gentlemen's agreement among companies to maintain fixed rates. One or two companies have not entered into the agreement, although they are abiding by the rates fixed by the tariff bureau.

Shipping Board operators are governed by committees located at the following ports:—Shanghai, Yokohama, Kobe, Hongkong and Singapore. It is the policy of these committees to maintain close contact with the tariff bureau, and as a rule the rates quoted by each are the same.

Bills of lading are the most generally used form of contract of carriage for all railroad and water transportation. The bill of lading serves three purposes:—(1) It furnishes a receipt for the goods turned over to the carrier; (2) it serves the purpose of a contract under the terms of which the service of transportation is performed; and (3) it forms the basis for financing the shipment. The last-named purpose is accomplished by means of the "to order" bill of lading, which is made out to the order of the shipper.

Ocean bills of lading and railroad bills of lading perform the same functions, but because of the greater hazards of ocean carriage, and for other reasons, many extra clauses have been added to the shipping contract. Today ocean bills of lading are imposing documents with a maze of detailed clauses.

UNIFORM BILLS

A uniform ocean bill of lading has not been adopted. As a result, shippers must study the numerous provisions contained in these documents in order to determine their legal standing with the carriers. They cannot use the bill of lading of one shipping company as representative of the conditions in that of another company.

The laws of the various countries of the world have imposed upon water carriers a much less stringent liability than they have upon carriers by land. In the United States, the Harbor Act of 1893 fixes the liability of all carriers engaged in American foreign and domestic trade. This law provides that carriers by water are liable for loss or damage only in case of (1) "negligence, fault or failure in proper loading, stowage, custody, care or proper delivery of cargo;" (2) failure "to exercise due diligence, properly equip, man, provision, and outfit" the vessel; and (3) failure "to make said vessel seaworthy and capable of performing her intended voyage."

Finance Bill In Second Reading

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 27.—The Finance Bill was read for a second time, without a division, in the House of Commons today.

Mr. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to the debate, said he hoped that he would be able next year, by further economies, to finance the Government's social reform program without at any rate a heavy increase in taxation. He believed that the present Budget provided a sound economic basis, on which next year the Government would be able to build an even more satisfactory structure. (Ministerial cheers).

South Africa Leads In Fruit Culture

Largest Orange Orchard In orld Located In The British Dominion

The largest single orange orchard in the world is located in South Africa and the industry of orange cultivation has reached such proportion that it is predicted by an American expert whose services are being utilised in the development of the industry that South Africa will have 7,000,000 boxes of orange available for export in 1930, according to a report on agricultural implements and farm equipment in South Africa just released by the Department of Commerce.

Indicative of the rapid growth of the industry in the Union is the large increase in orange trees under cultivation—1,510,990, of which 1,176,615 were grafted and 439,375 seedlings, compared with a total of 985,601 under cultivation in 1911.

Probably no phase of South African agriculture, and perhaps no single phase of South African economic life, has as bright prospects as has fruit cultivation. It has been said that there is no place in South Africa where some known fruit will not grow and thrive. Apples, apricots, avocado pears, bananas, cherries, gooseberries, figs, grapefruit, lemons, limes, pineapples, plums, quinces, olives, oranges, and peaches are grown in the Union on a commercial scale.

One of the greatest advantages held by South Africa as a fruit exporting country is that owing to its geographical position its products reach the British market in the off season. South African fruits also reach the United States during the winter months, but in small quantities. The trade has been remunerative, however, despite the heavy spoilage. With the establishment of a co-operative fruit growers' exchange and increased cold-storage shipping facilities, South African export trade in fruit is expected to expand.

The complete report may be obtained from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., or any district office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce by asking for Special Agents Series No. 225, "Agricultural Implements and Farm Equipment in South Africa." The price is 10 cents.

THE UNTOUCHED MEAL.

Many people starve although they have ample food on the table: they simply cannot eat. Loss of appetite is a sign of the trouble that sooner or later reveals itself as Indigestion or Nervous Dyspepsia, with low spirits and many other distressing symptoms.

Beware of loss of appetite. Long continued exhaustion is bound to produce serious debility.

The secret of keeping well is to keep up the quality of your blood; for this there is no better medicine than Dr. William' Pink Pills. By enriching the blood, these pills supply strength to the enfeebled digestive organs, and enable them to digest the food eaten. Sufferers from Indigestion and Nervous Dyspepsia will do well to take

GIANT GENERATOR BOUGHT FOR TOHO FIRM IN JAPAN

Purchased By Mitsuis For $1,000,000 From The General Electric

The largest steam turbine generator ever sold by any manufacturer in the world for export has recently been ordered from the International General Electric Co. by Mitsui & Co. for the Toho Electric Power Co. of Japan, and comprises a G. E. Curtis impulse type turbine, developing about 50,000 shaft horsepower, with a generator rated 43750 KVA. 11000 vols, 60 cycles. The order, including accessories and switchboard represents an initial capital expenditure of over $1,000,000. The unit will be located in the city of Nagoya, and provision is made for the future installation of an additional Turbine-Generator of same capacity.

The Toho Co., capitalised at approximately $70,000,000, holds a controlling interest in the Daido Electric Power Co., which in itself is one of the most important electric power amalgamations in Japan. Both of these companies are under the executive leadership of Mr. Momosuke Fukuzawa, often styled the king of the hydraulic power industry and pioneer of electrical development in Japan.

The purchase of this large turbine generator is typical and but another example of Mr. Fukuzawa's progressive character, as it was the Toho Co. that fostered and carried to completion the first "White Way" street lighting system in Japan—installed in Nagoya during the early part of 1923. Also in May 1923, at the Kawakami plant in the Kyushu district of the Toho Co., there was put in operation the first, and up to the present the only, automatic hydroelectric generating station in the Orient. The electrical equipment for these installations was also purchased either from the International General Electric Co. or its affiliated Japanese companies.

The Toho Co. practically controls the supply of power for lighting, industrial and railway purposes over a territory of approximately 13,000 sq. miles with a population of over 10,000,000. Their territory is divided into two main districts, Kansai and Kyushu. The former with its headquarters in the city of Nagoya (population 600,000) is the industrial backbone of Japan located in the central portion of the mainland and it is in this city that the present huge turbine will be located, while the latter is in the northern part of the island of Kyushu, west of the mainland. Up to April, 1923, the Toho Co. owned 40 plants, steam and hydroelectric, with a total generating capacity of over 91,000 kilowatts which will be increased to over 150,000 kilowatts after the installation of the new equipments now on order. In addition, it purchases and redistributes from other companies over 45,000 kilowatts so that its influence on the industrial and social welfare of such an extensive community is of a most pronounced and vital character.

While this 43,750 KVA turbine generator will furnish power for other than lighting purposes, it may help in visualizing its capacity to merely consider the small Japanese home with its average electric light consumption of about 35 watts, and to realize that this machine can supply enough power for 1,000,000 such homes.

The revolving field of the generator portion is made from a one-piece solid forging and is the largest and heaviest single piece which will be shipped. Its net weight is about 30 tons and approximate dimensions 27 feet long by 4 feet diameter. In operation it will revolve at a speed of 1800 R. P. M.

President Coolidge Signs The Immigration Law!

AS has been forecast for several days, President Coolidge, on May 25, signed the new "Quota" Immigration Law which places immigration into the United States on a two per cent. basis, in other words, the number of persons of any given nationality who may enter the United States in any one year is henceforth to be based upon 2 per cent. of the number of individuals of that nationality who were present in America in 1890.

This applies to all nationalities except the Japanese, who, according to a special clause in the Act, are excluded entirely except from the standpoint of "students, or travelers for pleasure or curiosity." This clause in the new immigration law is exactly the same restriction in respect to immigration into America on the part of Japanese as has existed for several years from the standpoint of immigration into America on the part of Chinese and Indians.

It is interesting to note that this element of a "square deal" to the citizens of all countries of Asia was an important element in the final action of Congress and undoubtedly must have also been an element in President Coolidge's final decision to sign the measure and put it into effect. The official Bulletin of the China Society of America for April, 1924, voices this point admirably:

"The Japanese plea for an allowed annual quota of immigrants, no matter how small, into this country on the grounds that they are a 'proud and sensitive people' and cannot with dignity submit to treatment not identical with that accorded any other nation means little in the face of similar protestations on behalf of China.

"So long as the Exclusion Act in theory bars all populations of Asia of whatever nationality, China will continue to ignore the indignities to which legitimate Chinese business men and students are subjected by American immigration authorities while 'gentlemen's' agreements permit Japanese agriculturalists to slip through to the discomfiture of the Californians. Should an exception be made in the case of Japan and her immigrants admitted on a quota basis as are Caucasians, no similar provision being made for Chinese, the Chinese undoubtedly will be able to make their resentment at such treatment felt. Aside from the loss of business which the United States would be certain to suffer as the result of such an unwise decision, consideration of elemental justice should actuate our State Department in the handling of this problem.

"Our trade with China is valuable; but even if it were worthless, justice demands there be no discrimination in favor of one Asiatic nation as against another. . . . California's objection to the application of a quota plan as a solution of the Japanese immigration problem is discriminating in favor of the Japanese since it could not be made to apply to other Asiatic people."

It is also of value to note, in this connection, that China has all along been completely aware of the unfairness of American policy in the past which has strictly barred Chinese coolie laborers from the shores of the United States while, on the other hand, Japanese laborers have been permitted to enter under the so-called "gentlemen's" agreement. The U. S. Census figures tell the story. After the passage of the law excluding Chinese coolies from America, the Chinese population in the United States decreased from 71,351 in 1910 to 61,639 in 1920, while in the same period the number of Japanese in America under the "gentlemen's agreement" increased from 72,157 in 1910 to 111,010 in 1920.

So thus ends the long fight of the Californians and the citizens of the other U. S. Pacific States for right to control and populate their own territories. The first Chinese Exclusion Acts were passed by the U. S. Congress in 1882 and 1892 following agitations of the San Francisco labor unions against the importation of low-priced labor. Immediately thereafter the Japanese began going to the States in increasing numbers until about 1900 when an agitation against them began also among the labor unions of the Coast. Exclusion legislation was threatened in Congress, so in order to head it off the State Department negotiated with the Japanese Foreign Office an understanding which has come to be known as the "gentlemen's agreement" whereby the Japanese Government bound itself voluntarily to restrict immigration into the United States on the part of coolie laborers.

This agreement has been a never-ending source of friction for the reason that it has been open to misinterpretation on both sides, the Americans claiming that it was being violated and the Japanese claiming otherwise. The real source of friction on the part of America was based upon the vital point that the American Government had surrendered to an alien Power the right to regulate a question which is purely a domestic issue for any nation that claims the right of sovereignty. Japan herself has never hesitated to exercise her sovereign rights in this respect when faced with the immigration of Chinese laborers. No later than May 5 of this year the Chinese Citizens, Association of Tokio sent a memorandum to the Japanese Foreign Office protesting against Japan's exclusion of Chinese and declaring that China expects the same consideration from Japan that Japan is demanding of the United States. The memorandum emphasised the fact that although all citizens and subjects of Asiatic countries are interested in legislation barring them from America, it is impossible for these countries to stand together while Japan restricts Chinese immigrants. And if further evidence is needed, the Shanghai Journal of Commerce, a Chinese paper, this week contained an editorial stating in part that:

"The Chinese Guild of Kobe has reported that the Japanese Government has adopted harsh rules restricting the landing of Chinese immigrants in Japan as if the Japanese cannot rest in peace until they were able to prevent all Chinese from going to their island country. They care not at all to violate our treaty rights, nor do they feel any scruple in transgressing all reasons. Their anti-Chinese legislation is much worse than the anti-Japanese measures adopted in the United States of America."

Speaking for ourselves, both from a business and an idealistic standpoint, it would have been better had Congress placed all countries, irrespective of race, on the same quota basis as respects immigration, but this was impossible in view of the state of public opinion—and especially voting labor-union opinion—at the present time. Therefore, if Congress could not see its way clear to deal with all countries alike, then the next best thing was to adopt the "square deal" policy in respect to restriction. If Chinese immigration to America is restricted to "students, merchants and travelers for pleasure or curiosity," then the only honorable thing to do is to treat Japan in exactly the same manner—and this is exactly what has been done. No longer can intelligent Chinese point their fingers toward America and say that Japan was receiving more favorable treatment merely because Japan possessed a military strength which China did not possess.

International Co-operative Women: What They Stand For

AT the time membership of the House of Commons, so far as the women of England were concerned, was a mere pious hope, there was chronicled a delightful incident concerning a political speaker of the female persuasion who was deliberately interrupted in the course of her delivery by a diminutive male heckler with the question: "Wouldn't you like to be a man?" Nothing daunted, the speaker turned round to the interrupter and promptly retaliated: "Wouldn't you like to be one?" That was the spirit which carried on the women of England to ultimate victory in their fight for political enfranchisement. When the War came, the women of the British Isles did not remain idle but did their little bit to ensure victory. Since then they have revealed to the world that they can hold their own and that they have organising powers no less than men, who have hitherto prided themselves on being the "superior" sex. If any such illusion were ever entertained, it has been effectively exploded, as the activities of the British Women's Association and the American Women's Club in Shanghai go to show. Intelligent women of the world are no longer of the clinging, swooning type immortalised by Victorian writers. They have set out to effect social reform, and though progress may be tardy, man's experience ought to convince him that once a woman has set her heart on something, she will not rest content until she gets it, like the baby in the advertisement with its eyes riveted on "Lux," though we make this allusion in no facetious spirit but rather to emphasise the tenacious quality characterising women and babies.

The foregoing reflections have been suggested by word just received that the old city of Ghent will be the scene this summer of the great Co-operative and Social Welfare Exhibition, a living demonstration of the growth and progress of the Co-operative Movement throughout the world. Of the many Co-operative movements to be held in connection with it will be the International Conference of Co-operative Guildswomen. Who are the Co-operative Guildswomen? What is their relation to the Co-operative Movement? What are their aims and why do they want an International Guild? The Guildswomen are working-class mothers banded together in their common capacity as consumers and wage-spenders who act, through the Co-operative Movement, to bring about a better social era and who, realising the value of co-operation in the smaller spheres, are determined to carry its wholesome principle "All for each and each for all" into the bigger sphere of world relations. Their aim is to ensure the welfare and the peace of the world even as the Co-operative Movement has ensured the welfare of the community wherever its principles have been carried out, so that nations may trade together without profit-making or competition, and dwell together in security even as co-operative communities dwell together and trade together today. They need an International Guild to further this great aim. Experience has shown that huge armies and navies do not prevent war. They make wars. And it is for the home-makers, the women whose baskets control the trade of the world to say today, that war must cease.

The consumers of one coontry have no quarrel with those of any other country. Their interests are alike and that of all is that of each. The International Co-operative Women's Conference promises to be the most representative gathering of working women ever yet held, and it is earnestly hoped that arising from this Conference of a permanent International Co-operative Women's Guild will be established.

Assisted Research

IT may come as a matter of surprise to most people that the British Government is willing to subsidise a company for the purpose of assisting the investigation of aviation on the lighter than air principle. For though much progress has been made in this direction since Count von Zeppelin commenced his early experiments which led to the construction of rigid dirigibles of some worth, the history of these mammoths of the air has not been such as to encourage much hope for the future. They proved unwieldy, the continual struggle between weight and soiidity of construction made them more or less cranky craft, while until the discovery and use of helium in large quantities, their operation was not unattended with the gravest risks. Even so late as last year, the Shenandoah, excellent though she appears to be, was not immune from the buffettings of a storm which tore her from her moorings, and gave the crew an arduous time, fighting her way back to safety.

The publication of the draft contract which the British Government intends to enter into with the Airship Guarantee Co. indicates, however, that not only has the Air Ministry very definite opinions as to what should comprise sea-worthiness, but that the aircraft which is to be built will have to undergo the severest possible test before the full assistance which the Government is prepared to give is afforded. Not only will the company have to build a vessel complying with certain vital requirements, prior to the flight trials, but without the successful accomplishment of the flight to India, the company can never hope to obtain all the assistance to which the Government pledges itself in certain circumstances.

In other words, the British Government is not to be out of pocket if this experiment does not produce a dirigible entirely up to its requirements, which means that in the event of failure, the company itself will have to bear the loss. On the other hand, should it be successful, the company will either have built the craft for the Government, at what is to be assumed would be a fair profit, or they may have the opportunity of repurchase at £150,000, which, in effect, means that the Government will have contributed a similar sum towards the achievement of the standards they have set.

What those standards are, we do not at present know. But unless a machine can be evolved capable of withstanding in a better degree the adversities of the air than many of its predecessors, the company will have lost its money, and the Government not a cent. No-one will blame the British Government for playing for safety, but it is not much of an encouragement for investigators to know that unless they find what they seek they will be deprived of all recompense for their trouble. Had Count Zeppelin been treated in like manner, it is clear that Germany would never have had the aircraft she did, for his initial experiments were attended by disaster after disaster until the success he achieved proved that he had been working on right lines.

England And Italy

THE visit of the King and Queen of Italy to England, coming, as it does, upon the settlement of the long outstanding question of Jubaland, marks one of the successes of the British Labor Government, and possibly an even closer rapprochement between the two countries. That this point was an important one may be judged by the importance attached to the settlement by the Italian newspapers, who have made as much of that incident as they are now doing of the Italian royal visit to England. Undoubtedly there is room for the formation of the closest possible understanding between the various European countries who sided with each other during the Great War, and the settlement of any outstanding point upon which friction might occur in the future is to be welcomed as an earnest for the continuance of that amity upon which the peace of the world so much depends even in this day.

Despite the belief that the older things had been swept away, and that the insistence upon the maintenance of a balance of power was but blind worship of an antiquated fetish, we find even now, that there is in process tendencies leading to the division of European powers into two opposing schools. That there should be another triple entente is evidence of some degree of security for each against any other aggregation of diverse interests, and might serve to discount the importance of any other similar combination of opposing policies. There is room for such understanding in the world, and the existence of a Labor Government in Britain, and the Fascisti in Italy may be the contributing factors to the improvement of relations between these two important nations.

Trunks Of Gold

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

Queer things take place at auction sales.

Queerer than you would imagine, if you have not at least occasionally treated yourself to these restricted vaudeville performances.

Commonly you can get desirable things for much less than they are worth.

Often you pay more than you should for objects that you do not actually want and certainly do not need.

Anyhow, an auction room serves as a theatre of much mingled fun, pathos, excitement—for which you do not have to pay at all, unless your time is really money.

Many of us have at least this knowledge of auction rooms: That in various ways the unexpected happens there.

Therefore, one needs not for a moment doubt a story lately broadcasted from Omaha. But you must not let it tempt you to buy a pig in a poke, because the little swine may not have been lately fed on pearls.

It appears that a sporty Nebraskan bought an old trunk at a sale of unclaimed expressage several weeks ago, and paid $4.50 for it.

When he opened the trunk he found it full of black mud.

His friends teased him and had lots of fun about his trunkful of mud. But somebody—evidently related to the curious man from Missouri—suggested that he have the stuff analysed.

He took the trunk to the Omaha plant of the American Smelting and Refining Company and duly got their report on the "black mud."

It proved to contain gold to the amount of $1,806.89!

A pleasant surprise and a not unprofitable gamble.

And it reminds this writer of an auction sale which he recently attended, vicariously. Among other items an old painting was put up. After lazy bidding, it was knocked down to a canny dealer for $100.

He had suspected the canvas. Later he had it "authenticated" to his satisfaction.

He believes he has found the finest Watteau in America and refuses $15,000 for his find.

As you suspect, these auction sales stories—and specifically the one about the trunkful of gold—are told with a purpose.

Frankly, that purpose is to stimulate the none-too-general respect for the other fellow whose appearance may be unpromising.

Proverbially, all is not gold that glitters. You have seen the shining stuff called iron pyrites and known to the miners as "fool's gold."

Much glittering, egotistic showy human stuff is only fool's gold and worth but little.

Whereas many a modest man and woman, like the black mud of the story, may make no show at all, but, on the assaying of closer acquaintance, proves to be rich with golden qualities.

A PRAYER FOR VISION

O Lord, open thou mine eyes.

Cure my blindness, that I may see past the tall buildings of cities and perceive the souls thereof, past the dark material into the luminous spiritual, past the hard things visible unto the fluid, eternal things invisible.

All about me are the barriers that cut off men's view of the wide vistas. Make mine eyes to have X-ray power to pierce through, and to be like telescopes to see afar.

Let me see beyond the quick satisfaction of hate to the long joy of forgiveness.

Let me see beyond appetite to the pleasure of self-control.

Let me see beyond greed to the luxury of giving.

Past gold to the treasures of contentment.

Widen my horizon. Give me largeness of heart.

Let me not love the one woman less, but through her the welfare of all women.

All around and about my own children stand innumerable children everywhere; may my vision reach them, that I may strive to live for them also.

Let me see past revenge unto the strength and wisdom of forgiveness.

Let me see past blinding pride to sunny healthfulness of humility.

Let me see past profit to usefulness.

Past success to self-approval;

Past passion to poise:

Past the heat of desire to the light of renunciation;

Past the glare of power to the abiding beauty of service:

Past the rank, poisonous growth of self to the fragrance and flowers of unself.

Take my life out of the narrow pit and set me upon a high mountain.

I want to see, to see, and not forever to be a prisoner of prejudice, a bat of blind custom, a mote of ignorance, a convict in the penitentiary of fear, a frightened rat in the house of superstitution.

Let me see beyond the boundaries of my country unto all the world;

Past competition to co-operation, past war to world government;

Past party to patriotism;

Past patriotism to humanity.

Let me see past the night to the renewing dawn;

Past gloom to glory, past death to eternal life, past the finite to the infinite;

Past men and things and events to God.

VIRTUE IS FORCE

Etymology sometimes contains striking hints of truth. The word "virtue" now passes as meaning goodness or moral worth, and has a feminine flavor. Originally the Latin "virtus" meant manly strength, and was akin to the word "vir," or "man."

And the buried and half-forgotten truth that lies here is that the determining ingredient of goodness is power.

There is no virtue in weakness. Whatever is feeble is immoral. If we say a weak woman is good it is because we think, confusedly and do not express exactly, what we mean; for what we really have in mind is that the woman, though weak in body, and possibly in intelligence, is strong in soul. It is not at all her weakness, it is her strength we wish to commend.

Goodness is never feeble, never contemptible. It is the toughest, hardest, most forceful thing in man. Kindness is stronger than cruelty, love than hate, self-sacrifice than self-seeking, truth than lies.

All real morality, if you think clearly, you will see to be nothing but the highest form of human force.

Virtue is "virtus," manly masterly strength.

SHAVING STICK
A solid piece of soap
A ring in the center
A cap screwed to each side of the ring
You can use both ends of this new Williams' Doublecap Shaving Stick: half the length for lathering, the other half for holding. Then reverse. You can use every scrap of soap.
When the original stick is used up, buy a Re-Load for the non-corrosive metal box.
Williams' lather stands alone, not only for its richness, thickness and beard-softening qualities, but for its remarkably beneficial effect upon the skin.
In a double, climate-proof wrapper, Doublecap reaches you always firm, fresh and sweet.
The soap in Williams' Doublecap and Williams' Holder Top Sticks is precisely the same in quality.
Made by the Makers of the famous Williams' Talc Powders—perfectly borated, medicinal and toilet.

LARGEST SHIPPING COMBINE FORMED BY JAPAN FIRMS

Unchin Domei Includes More Shipowners Than Any Other Body

The largest steamship conference ever known in Japan has just been organized with its headquarters in Kobe under the title of the "Unchin Domei." The plan was submitted to the general meeting of shipowners held in Kobe last week and was adopted unanimously. Shipowners who joined the conference numbered 47, including almost all the leading shipping firms of the country, and the ship tonnage belonging to the conference totals 2,501,219 tons deadweight of which 1,938,219 tons are owned by these shipowners and 563,000 tons are chartered by them.

The original conference plan was signed by the representatives of all these shipowners the same day and the conference is to be operative throughout the country where these shipowners have their head offices.

LIST OF MEMBERS

The names of leading shipowners who joined the conference are—Kokusai Kisen Kaisha, Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Yamashita Kisen Kaisha, Taiyo Kaiun Kaisha, Katsuda K. K., Okazaki K. K., Karafuto K. K., Nitta K. K., Teikoku K. K., Dairen Kisen Kaisha, Hiroumi Shoji Kaisha, Towsa K. K., Kita Shina K. K., Taiyo K. K., Kobe Shosen Kaisha, Kishimoto K. K., and many other firms. Those not included are the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Nippon Yusen Kaisha, which operate services under Government protection and subsidization.

Sixteen steamship firms were elected members of the standing committee. The Kuribayashi Shosen Kaisha, the largest shipowner in Hokkaido, is the only large shipowner which is not party to the new conference but it will be prevailed upon by the standing committee to join. Details concerning the conference regulations and method of punishment have already been given in full in these columns. This large conference will go a long way to consolidate the relations among shipowners and to obviate the necessity of keeping all other minor steamship conferences on the nearsea services. This move was initiated by Mr. Kikuchi, president of the Towa Kisen Kaisha, Kobe, and was supported by all other tramp shipowners without dissension.

SHIPOWNERS DOUBTFUL

Doubts are, however, entertained by some shipowners as to the profit to be realized by the shipowners concerned by means of this conference. They say that the mere attempt to raise artificially steamer freights will not prevail, as the conference pays little attention to the removal of the evil of surplus hold space on the coasting as well as on the nearsea services. If a joint tie-up of ships is not feasible, the prevention of large-type steamers from participating in the coasting shipping business must be attempted without delay, they say.

The largest problem confronting the conference lies in the regulation of steamer freights for the oversea trade. It is evident that the conference can hardly control the oversea freights and the agreement will have to be limited to the nearsea and coasting services only. The prosperity of the nearsea services must be the sole aim of the conference and, in order to realize this, the surplus of space must be alleviated, it is argued.

Reckless participation of oversea freighters in the coasting trade will only aggravate the freight market and it is considered difficult to artificially raise freights at present without solving the space problem. It remains to be seen whether the conference can tide over the coming summer depression and keep the large number of shipowners interested therein from resorting to reckless freight cutting.

NORWEGIAN SHIPS ARE SENSITIVE TO OPPORTUNITIES

Develop Specialization In Carrying Trade To Notable Degree

Discussing the significance of Norway's sea carrying trade, the National Bank of Commerce in New York, in the May issue of Commerce Monthly, comments upon the peculiar sensitiveness of that country's merchant marine to business opportunity wherever it arises.

"Following the Japanese earthquake of 1923," the Bank points out, "a pressing need developed for ships to carry across the Pacific the great quantities of lumber and other building materials required for reconstruction. The tonnage obtained comprised vessels of several nationalities previously employed in other trades, but a conspicuous part of this hastily assembled fleet consisted of Norwegian tonnage. There is regularly a representation of Norwegian vessels in the lumber and grain trade between north Pacific ports and the Far East. The emergency and the prospect of greater earnings brought about a considerable addition to the normal tonnage of Norwegian ships on this route.

"One of the greatest industries of Norway, the sea carrying trade, is pursued to a large extent at vast distances from the home shores. This commercial fleet, ranking eighth in the world's shipping, has been developed by less than three million people in the most sparsely populated country of western Europe.

MANY TRAMP STEAMERS

"The distinguishing features of the Norwegian marine are the low percentage of its vessels employed in line traffic and the preponderance of tramp vessels. The foreign trade of Norway is not of large volume compared with that of other western European nations and accordingly the carrying trade to and from the home ports is scanty. Probably not more than 10 percent of the tonnage in Norwegian registry engages in the foreign trade of the country. Coastwise traffic likewise affords only meager trade for vessels although Norway has a shore line of fifteen hundred miles. This local carrying trade and the fisheries give employment to another 10 percent of the merchant fleet. The remaining 80 percent of Norwegian vessels range the seven seas for their freight.

"The great days of the sailing vessel are over and gradually canvas is being eliminated from the Norwegian marine both by the sale of vessels and by failure to replace those which are lost. At the close of 1923 sailing ships formed only 4.5 percent of the total tonnage as against 7 percent in 1922. At the outbreak of the European War over 30 percent of the total tonnage consisted of sailing vessels. The merchant fleet now consists of some 1,800 ships with a total tonnage of around 2,550,000. This forms about 4 percent of the total merchant shipping of the world.

"The motorship, that most modern development of ocean transportation, has rapidly become a powerful arm of Norwegian maritime service. Almost 10 percent of the tonnage at the close of 1922 consisted of motor vessels.

SPECIALIZATION DEVELOPED

"Specialization in the carrying trade has developed to a considerable degree. About a hundred ship owners, members of the Norwegian Ship Owners' Association, compose the timber group, so named because their vessels carry timber. Prominence in this special field is an inheritance from early times so that today the transportation of rough and prepared timber is carried on to a very large extent by Norwegian ships.

"In the face of the surplus of shipping which has existed since the war and the general depression in the carrying trade, it is reported that Norwegian owners have been able to keep practically all their ships in trade since 1921. If this claim be too sweeping, it is still certain that they have fared better than most other national shipping interests. A report at the end of July 1923 showed only about 5 percent of the Norwegian fleet laid up either at home or abroad.

"In addition to forming one of the major activities of the country, the significance of Norway's carrying trade is accentuated by the fact that through its services to foreigners large credit balances are created abroad which constitute an important means of adjusting its trade balance."

To Seek Action On Independence Bill At Present Session

(Reuter's American Service)

Washington, May 28.—An attempt may be made this Session to secure affirmative action, either in the Senate or the House of Representatives, on a Bill providing for the future Independence of the Philippines.

Two such Bills are now pending—one introduced by Senator Hiram W. Johnson, granting independence within 25 years, and the other, drafted by Representative L. W. Fairfield, fixing the period at 20 years,

The Filipino Independence Mission, which is now here, told Mr. John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, that either Bill would be satisfactory.
